COURTS TO DISPENSE "JUSTICE, NOT LAW"
So Declares Lord Chief Justice of England, Telling of Changing Order.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—"We, in our country, have striven for thirty or forty years to administer the law in the full understanding that it is really secondary to justice. The old order of things is changing. We are striving to dispense justice, not law."

Lord Reading, lord chief justice of England, and the man by whose efforts more than any other individual the great international loan was consummated, so told 600 American justices and prominent attorneys at a banquet tendered him last night by the Bar Association.

"The idea," said Lord Reading, "that a court is to dispense law is becoming obsolete. A court is to dispense justice."

ASYLUM TO OBSERVE BIRTHDAY TOMORROW

Washington City Orphanage to Celebrate Hundredth Anniversary With Tea.

The hundredth anniversary of the founding of the Washington City Orphan Asylum will be observed tomorrow afternoon by a reception and tea at the building, Fourteenth and S streets, from 4 to 6 o'clock.

After the address of Senator Lee there will be an outdoor musical drill and marches by the 182 children in the institution. Children also will act as guides of visitors through the building.

Notable History.
The asylum has had a notable history. Many names prominent in official life have been associated with it.

Mrs. James Madison ("Dolly" Madison) headed the first board of directors. The memorial hall, known as the "Hall Memorial," was built in 1885 in honor of Dr. James C. Hall, a friend and benefactor of the institution. At that time W. W. Corcoran presided, and addressed the board.

The asylum was organized following the war of 1812, when a number of destitute children were left here. Mrs. John P. Van Ness and Mrs. Obadiah Brown, wife of the pastor of the First Baptist Church, were among the prime movers in the project. Upon the retirement of President Madison, Mrs. Madison withdrew from the board, and Mrs. James Monroe was elected. She could not serve, and Mrs. Van Ness was elected.

In 1823 the institution was incorporated with William Hawley, John P. Van Ness, Nathan Tyson, Obadiah Brown, and John Jones as trustees. Following the civil war there came another influx of orphans to be cared for. W. W. Corcoran donated the present site, and the institution was moved there from its earlier home on H street.

From a faded pamphlet giving the annual report of the managers for 1870 are found names familiar to students of Washington history. At that time the trustees board was made up of W. W. Corcoran, William B. Todd, Charles A. Knapp, J. C. Harkness, and Dr. James C. Hall.

Women Manage Asylum.
The present board is made up of women prominent in social life and in philanthropic work. Following the death of Mrs. W. M. Merriek, of Hchester, Md., Mrs. Z. T. Sowers, second directress, has assumed active charge, and the treasurer is Mrs. S. W. Woodward.

War Oddities.
BERLIN, Oct. 15.—J. B. Jackson, who has charge of the inspection of prison camps in Germany for the American embassy, visited Doberitz recently to attend an entertainment given by the thousand English marines imprisoned there. These marines were captured by the Germans.

Jackson asked what the initials "C. I." after each performer's name meant. "It means," some one answered, "Churchill's Innocent Victims."

MAID IS FOUND TO HAVE BIG HOLDINGS

Servant in Seantor Scott's Service Sent to Government Insane Asylum.

That she possessed stocks and bonds, money on deposit in the Continental Trust Company, and real estate in Pasadena, Cal., developed at the inquiry into the sanity of Lulu Thomas, thirty-four years old, a maid in the service of Senator and Mrs. Nathan R. Scott, in Criminal Court No. 2 yesterday, where she was adjudged of unsound mind.

Mrs. Thomas was demanded to the Government Hospital for the Insane.

The Continental Trust Company later was appointed by Justice Siddons as trustee without bond to handle her property, which included $500 on deposit in the trust company, two $500 bonds of the company, thirty shares of stock in the Lauen Fibre Company, valued at $150, and a lot in Pasadena, Cal.

Application to inquire into the sanity of the woman was made to the court September 2 last. Subpoenaed as witnesses when the inquiry started before Justice Siddons yesterday were Dr. J. A. Gannon, Dr. D. Percy Hickling, and Dr. John J. Madigan, alienists, and Mrs. Charles J. Yingling, George J. Schirch, Albert J. Wensell, and Policeman C. P. Cos.

Senator Scott also testified. In his petition seeking the appointment of the Continental Trust Company as trustee, Senator Scott, who is president of the company, declared Miss Thomas had been a maid in attendance upon Mrs. Scott and himself for the past seven years, and that she had trusted him with several investments.

He stated he had been informed that a sister of the woman had not been friendly toward her, and he asked that the court appoint the Trust Company as trustee.

FIFTH DISTRICT BANK MADE BIG EARNINGS

Believed to Be Only Federal Reserve Institution to Pay Six Per Cent.

Advance reports indicate that the Fifth District Federal Reserve Bank at Richmond, which includes Washington, will be the only one in the country to pay 6 per cent on its capital stock at the close of its first year's business. James F. Oyster, of Washington, is a director of this bank.

The announcement was made in Baltimore by H. Parker Willis, secretary of the Federal Reserve Board, yesterday. Officials at the Treasury said no statement would be made there before the regular reports for the first year of the reserve banks' business are received.

Figures on hand at the department, however, indicate that the earnings of this bank will exceed 6 per cent, though the law prohibits paying more than that amount.

Business men of Washington were highly interested in the information today, and pointed out that the earnings of the Richmond bank indicated a high degree of prosperity in Maryland, Virginia, and the District, included in the Fifth district bank's territory.

Woman Dead in Her Room With Gas Turned on Full

Mrs. Agnes Volton, seventy-nine years old, was found unconscious early today on the floor of her room at 1261 Morse street northeast. Gas from a nearby jet flowed into the apartment.

Dr. Shinn of the Casualty Hospital staff, responding to a call, pronounced her dead.

Coroner Nevitt was told by Mounted Police Sergeant Rodgers, of the Ninth precinct, Mrs. Volton's son-in-law, that when he was summoned about 4 o'clock this morning, he found the key-hole of the door stopped up, the gas turned on full, and the tip on the fixture removed.

Operator a Hero.

GAINESVILLE, Tex., Oct. 15.—Persons arriving here from Ardmore, Okla., which met disaster from an explosion, and a fire, brought an account of the heroic conduct of C. S. Nell, a Santa Fe railroad telegraph operator, who, suffering from a fractured leg and wrenched back, placed together some broken wires to send out the first news of the disaster and a call for aid.

Nell, who was at work near the Police Department, recovered sufficiently after the explosion to search for a telegraph instrument, which he found in the demolished freight building. The fumes from the explosion forced him to breathe through a handkerchief tied about his face. He is said to be in a serious condition.

Another Big Tailoring Scoop!
A Personal Statement By Mr. Needle

Months ago I foresaw a sharp rise in the cost of woollens, owing to war conditions. I knew that importations would be at least ebb. I also knew that most of the dyes used in domestic-made woollens came from Germany, and that when the present supply was exhausted, no more would be obtainable. I wanted to protect my patrons, so I sent my buyers scurrying over the market, giving them orders to buy all the best quality woollens they could secure. Here's the result:

Made to Measure Suits and Overcoats $12.50

Just think of it! Just when other tailors are announcing that from $5 to $10 more a suit must be added to the cost, we make a decided cut!

All the wanted fabrics are to be found in my great stock including the popular Glen Urquhart and club checks, overplaid, banjo and pencil stripes and silk and gray mixtures. Samples cheerfully given.

The making of your suit will be under my direct supervision and I will not be satisfied unless you are satisfied in every respect. Order now—every one will want one or more of these suits and overcoats at this special price.
